

BIO FOR DAN OLSZEWSKI

Dan Olszewski is the Director of the Weinert Center for Entrepreneurship and the Strategic Management in Life and Engineering Sciences programs at the University of Wisconsin-Madison School of Business. He teaches the capstone course for Entrepreneurship MBA students and was one of the co-founders of the Wisconsin Entrepreneurial Bootcamp (WEB) program for UW graduate students enrolled in the sciences and engineering.

Prior to joining the UW, Olszewski was CEO and Chairman of PNA Holdings during which time revenues increased from $26M to over $400M from the organic growth of Parts Now! and acquisition of Katun Corp. With the assistance of private equity sponsors, he led the successful buyout of the founder in 1999.

Before joining Parts Now! Olszewski was a consultant at McKinsey and Company, with a focus on strategy, supply chain, technology and finance. He has also worked for IBM, the Federal Reserve Board of Governors, and Yasuda Fire and Marine Insurance in Tokyo.

Olszewski graduated from UW-Madison with a bachelor's degree in Economics and Computer Science, and received an MBA from the Harvard Business School. Olszewski is on the board of directors of World Data Products Inc. and Sologear, LLC. He is on the advisory boards of Cascade Asset Management and Parts Now! LLC. He also currently serves on the nonprofit advisory board for the Henry Vilas Zoological Society and has served on the WHA Public Television Board.
